

Slippery Tricks You'll Both Be Into

It's a proven fact: Women who bust out the lube experience more satisfaction than those who don't. Need some ideas for unleashing this lightning in a bottle? We thought of a few....

Tip: Don't do this outside. Think grass, ants, sticky...no good.

- Get a soft-haired paintbrush and “paint” him with lube. He’ll be dying by the time you’re done.
- Dab some flavored lube onto your lips in front of him. Once they’re nice and glossy, go down on him.
- Throw a bottle in the fridge. Later, squeeze a few drops onto the small of your guy’s back, and massage—it will give him sexy chills.
- Tell him to slather you with lube, but institute a no-hands-allowed rule so he has to get creative.
- Mix a few flavors to create new combos, like strawberry-banana.
- Apply a flavored type to your ta-tas, and draw a line along your inner thighs from your knees to your lady bits. Then have him lick it off.
- Put a drop in the tip of his condom before sliding it on to intensify his pleasure.
- Invest in a sampler pack, and rate them on how slippery they are, how good they taste, and how long you can last while using them.
- One thing silicone types are perfect for: shower sex (they don’t rinse off the way natural lubricants and water-based varieties do). So keep a bottle next to your shampoo for spur-of-the-moment ideas.
- To give him an amazing hand job, use warming lube to start. After a few minutes, wash your hands. Then switch to a cooling kind. The different sensations will drive him crazy.
- During sex, coat your fingers and massage his perineum (the area between his penis and testicles).
- Work it all over your breasts and run them along his hot spots.
- Blindfold him, and see if he can tell the difference between your lips and your fingers when they’re both covered in lube. Then switch and let him try the same thing on you.
- Squeeze some lube into his palm, then have him rub it against your clitoris. Since the stuff heightens your sensitivity, see if he can finish the job just by blowing on you.
- Use silicone-based lube to give each other pre-nooky rubdowns.
- Spread it onto his pubic-bone region so you get a tingly feeling each time he thrusts.

WHERE TO BUY

Drugstores aren’t just for stocking up on t.p.—they sell lube too. For more variety (and privacy), check out Babeland, Adam and Eve, or Ricky’s online.
